Storytime a different kind

Queen Storytime dazzles kids at the library

By Rhonda Noyce
Staff Writer

It didn't take too long to grab the attention of the kids outside the Elk Point Library last Tuesday. As Queen Storytime waltzed into the Mural Park wearing a silver sequined gown with a red feather boa draped over her shoulders, the kids new she wasn't any librarian.

"How are you my melon heads," the Queen asked the group of kids waiting patiently for the storytime show to begin.

Some of the youngsters played shy but others jumped in with boastful retorts. When the show began there were no holds barred.

Queen Storytime started off with a scary tale of Holgar

Pederson's haunted farm.

"This story is so scary that the grown ups will be running away in fear, but I know all of you will be brave enough," the Queen told the attentive young listeners.

As she told the tale, she drew what looked like scribbles on a large piece of paper. She was assisted by one of the kids from the audience as they acted out the necessary elements of the story.

"Paige was so scared she almost peed her pants," Queen said, drawing giggles from the children.

At the end of the story, Queen held the drawing upside down to unveil the so-called ghost that was chasing Paige.

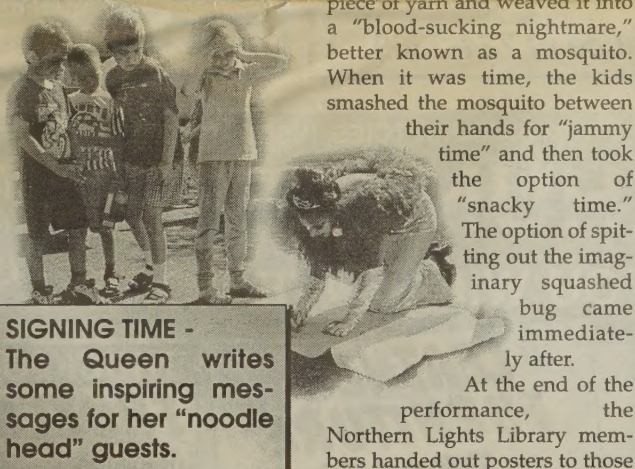

For the second tale, Queen Storytime pulled out a black piece of yarn and weaved it into a "blood-sucking nightmare," better known as a mosquito. When it was time, the kids smashed the mosquito between their hands for "jammy time" and then took the option of "snacky time."

The option of spitting out the imaginary squashed bug came immediately after.

At the end of the performance, the Northern Lights Library members handed out posters to those kids whose names were drawn and then Queen Storytime signed autographs and interacted with the kids.

Northern Lights sponsored the Queen Storytime show, featuring former teacher Amie Williamson of Edmonton.

Linear Park

County and trail users working together on rail bed

By Rhonda Noyce
Staff Writer

A posse of all terrain vehicles, and some horses, spent a sunny day riding along the Linear Park trail last Monday.

What made this ride out of the ordinary was that the County of St. Paul No. 19 councillors were holding a special kind of meeting. The subcommittee of the Elk Point Historical Society invited the councillors for a ride on the old rail bed to see how the two groups could work together and make this 34-km stretch of trail user friendly for everyone.

"There's no real expense for the County," says Sheila Thompson, from the subcommittee. "One councillor from the Mallaig area couldn't understand why the County should be involved, being that it is only in one part of the county ... Afterwards, he thought it was important to let other county residents know that there's very little cost involved."

Reeve Ray Danyluk echoed those comments.

"All of the user groups who use the trail were present. And it's great because they are looking at funding everything for it through various fundraising," says Danyluk. "They just wanted us to be a partner in this project because it is our land, and there are things they want to do that they wanted to be compatible with our direction."

The history of this trail began a few years ago when CN Railway sold the rail line. This same group of users lobbied the County to purchase the line. The trail laid dormant for a couple years, but the users started to make improvements and then decided to approach the County to help make it accessible to everyone.

The County has already pulled out their graders to go over the trail and they agreed to lay some cold mix on some of the soft gravel spots. The subcommittee is now determining where signs need to be placed and they are working with the County to find the best way to put in a couple small bridges and to develop the three trail heads in Heinsburg, Lindbergh and Elk Point.

The subcommittee is also approaching associations such as Alberta TrailNet and the Alberta Snowmobile Association for assistance in developing and maintaining the trail.

"Once people in places like Edmonton hear you can come out here and travel (34 km) without permission, they will rush to this area. It is a great tourism opportunity," says Councillor Allen Young.

The trail runs from Elk Point to Heinsburg and can be accessed by the three trail heads as well as at a number of township roads crossing the trail. There are a number of tourist attractions along the trail including the old tyme town of Heinsburg with the only remaining water tower in Alberta, the salt plant, Whitney Lakes and Fort George/Buckingham House.

With the focus on value added products and keeping local resources within the area, Danyluk says there may be a decreasing need for the rail line through St. Paul. If CN decides to sell the line, then Danyluk says the County would seriously consider continuing the trail up through St. Paul.

community NEWS

Ten days until the annual Fair!

Elk Point & District Agricultural Society has a very busy week-end coming up August 14 to 16, as they present their rodeo and agricultural fair. The rodeo goes Saturday and Sunday at the Fairgrounds, while the agricultural fair is slated for August 14 and 15 at the A. G. Ross Arena.

Exhibits for the Agricultural Fair, with over six hundred classes to choose from, will be taken Friday, August 14 from noon until 3:30 p.m. Fair books and entry tags are available at the Elk Point Review and from Fair Board members. Judging takes place following the closure of entries.

The Fair will be open for public viewing on Saturday, August 15 from 2:00 to 7:00 p.m., with prizes awarded at 7:00 p.m. Make sure to come down and have a look at all the talent our community holds, from flowers, fruit and vegetables to crafts, art-work, canning, baking and much more.

Fort George and Buckingham House Summer Day Camp, week 3

TAWAW. Welcome to the third week of the summer program at FGBH. We were learning about the native ways of life and how important they were in the fur trade era. Each child was given a name from the Cree language that described an event in their life or a part of their personality, that we, the staff, thought suited them. Our staff had some fun when they put names on your child. Our names were laughing jackal (Oliver Buck) and brother Hunts like a Hawk (Alex), Eye of the Hawk (Cale Walker), Standing Wolf (Ryan Marцениuk), Soars like an Eagle (Ryan Macdonald) and Justin Povaschuk as our "Screaming Falcon".

Quiet as evening and Graceful as the wind were the very quiet Antonio sisters (Kristen and Laura), Little Beaver and Swimming Otter

Learning about the native ways of life are also from the same family (Sarah and Brett Zarowny), Running Bear and Big Bear were all famous Hassel brothers (Cody and Rusty), also this week we had another famous brother duet with us, Falls of a Cliff and Swims like a fish are so true for these boys (Tyler and Dylan Loughron) just ask them how they got their names.

We had two brother and sister groups with us this year, Howling coyote and peaceful morning are from the Maas family (Harrison and Natalie), and Little bunny and Running Antelope were Kimberly and Billy Berland. Our last participant for this week's naming ceremony was missing his brother because of illness so Stands Behind (Blake Brodwin) did not have to stand behind his older brother Mark, but on his own.

Our interpretive staff showed the children how to communicate using sign language and pictographs to tell stories. All the participants had a fun time, throughout the week. July 27 and 29, we are having Fort vs Fort week. During this week, we are going to learn how they lived and survived.

Throughout the week of August 3 to 5, we will learn about dream catchers and beading patterns, so come out and join us for some fun.

Family Day Homes are needed

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Do you enjoy caring for young children? Do you want to stay at home and still make an income? Perhaps we can help! Elk Point Child Care Services is currently looking for Day Home Providers in the Town of Elk Point. If you are interested, give Deanna Easthope a call at 724-3800.

Family Day Home Providers are very special people. They are usually "Moms" and sometimes "Dads", who stay at home and care for their own children while at the same time, care for other children who are not their own. They apply to become an approved Family Day Home and thus become responsible to meet quality child care standards.

When there are approved Family Day Homes available in the community, parents who need child care will have their needs met with quality standards. As parents of children looking for child care arrangements while they are at work or attending school, arranging child care that is best for the child and the family is a big concern. As a parent, the primary responsibility for the safety and well-being of their child is theirs. And — as a parent, they also have the responsibility for selecting the most appropriate child care to meet their child's and their family's needs. However, sometimes parents need help in finding quality child care.

In Elk Point, Elk Point Child Care Services, is the agency licensed to contract with approved Family Day Home Providers to provide child care for parents who need this service.

Family Day Homes, after the initial approval is completed, are monitored on a monthly basis. Before the Family Day Home is approved, the potential provider fills out an application form, has a security check completed, a TB test completed, three references turned in, and two home visits are completed with the potential provider and the Agency Coordinator. (One of these visits is a home safety check visit and the other visit includes a discussion of child development standards required to be met while children are in care). Then, another requirement is that the Provider complete the "Child Infant First Aid Course".

At the time the parent is ready to find child care arrangements, they will contact the agency. Their application includes information on their child with emergency contact information. Once all of this is completed, arrangements are then made to meet the Provider. At this point, it is important to note that all parties agree that a "bonding" arrangement with Provider and Child will be possible. No one is "forced" to care for children and no one is "forced" to have their child / children cared for by someone they don't feel comfortable with.

Opportunity For Public Input: Review of Recreation Development Policies for Kananaskis Country

Alberta Environmental Protection is reviewing and updating policies which will govern future recreation development in Kananaskis Country.

This is your opportunity to participate in this review. This review exists to ensure that any interested Albertan or organization has the opportunity to comment on the recreation development policies, as well as what they believe are appropriate levels and type of future recreation development.

The consulting firm, Praxis Inc.—Calgary and Edmonton—has been retained to conduct these consultations.

This consultation process will run through January, 1999.

How You can Participate

There are two ways to participate:

- 1) If you are an individual or group, you can complete a workbook. Workbooks must be submitted no later than October 15th, 1998.
- 2) An organization with interest in K-Country can provide us with a written submission. Written submissions are due no later than November 15th, 1998.

A package which consists of a mail-back workbook along with a Backgrounder describing Kananaskis Country is available for you to provide your comments. You can request the material by:

TIC Talk

By Sherry Pelech
Tourist Information Centre Clerk

Here is great news for all you walkers, hikers, bikers, cross-country skiers, snow-mobilers, quadders (quadists? quadarians?) joggers and unicyclists. The "Iron Horse Trail" is going to be 34 kilometers of scenic wonderland. Situated on the old rail bed from Elk Point to Heinsburg, the trail follows the line past the old 'Muriel' District, south of beautiful little Simmo Lake, through Lindbergh, past Riverview and the Salt Plant and skirts along the North Saskatchewan River into Heinsburg.

There are a few soft spots as of yet that could cause difficulties for bikers and there is a need for signs designating road crossings but the trail is functional. It will be great if the trail can eventually be joined to the existing hiking trails that navigate around the four lakes at the Whitney Lakes Provincial Park.

This latest addition to the outdoor pleasures of our area is invaluable. (Or if you prefer to put a monetary value on it, it is estimated at nearly one and a quarter million dollars. 34 kilometers long at $36 a meter — which is cost of the huge Trans Canada Trail). Let's get out and enjoy it.

Letters to the Editor

The Elk Point Review welcomes letters to the Editor. They should be as brief as possible -- a maximum length of 300 words is suggested. Unsigned letters will not be published and writers should include a phone number where they may be reached. When a letter is directed at a specific individual or group, the part or parties concerned will be given the opportunity to provide response in the same issue of the newspaper.

■ Nutrition notes

Should we avoid red meat?

By Carmen Skrypichayko
Dietician, Elk Point Health Centre

Beef and pork are often the first foods restricted when people "go on a diet" whether it be for high cholesterol or weight loss. However, red meat has great food value and when prepared properly, can be part of a nutritious diet.

Beef and pork are often scorned because these foods are thought to be high in fat. Not true. When trimmed of visible fat, all cuts of beef and pork (except ribs) contain less than 10% fat, meeting the government's definition of lean meat. Besides, meat is just one source of fat in the diet and eliminating meat will not guarantee a healthy diet or reduced fat intake. In fact, a 3 oz. broiled sirloin steak has about half the fat of a 2-cup serving of Caesar salad.

Red meat is also a great source of nutrients. The protein found in meat is complete, specifically all nine essential amino acids are found in amounts that are necessary for good health. Red meat is also an excellent source of all the B vitamins, zinc and most importantly, iron.

Iron is the world's number one nutrient deficiency and mild forms are even common in Canada. Women in child-bearing years are particularly at risk. The iron found in meat is both plentiful and highly absorbable making it an excellent source of iron.

Meat can be part of a healthy diet. Choosing meats with less marbling, trimming visible fat, avoiding processed meat and not frying or deep frying will help control fat intake. Also, keep your portion down to about 3 oz. (the size of a deck of cards) with no more than two or three servings per day.

■ From the Legislature

New doctors headed for rural communities

Thanks to the Rural Physician Action Plan and Regional Health Authorities, 62 new physicians are headed for rural Alberta. The Rural Physician Action

paul
MLA Report

Plan was set up in an attempt to address the shortage of doctors in rural Alberta.

The budget for 1998-99 for the Rural Physician Action Plan is $5.8 million. The Government of Alberta has provided an additional $1 million in funding in 1998-99 and $1 million in 1999-2000. While this year's initiative focuses on recruitment, funding in 1999-2000 will be directed toward initiatives to retain physicians in rural areas.

Physicians will begin arriving this summer and are expected to be in place by the fall. Of the 62 new physicians, 34 are from within Canada (including 10 Alberta medical residents), 21 are from South Africa, and seven offers are still outstanding. Physicians will be located in communities across Alberta, including Grande Prairie, Slave Lake, Athabasca, Swan Hills, Cold Lake, Viking, Lloydminster, St. Paul, Two Hills, Vermilion, Fort Saskatchewan, Camrose, Drayton Valley, Stettler, Lacombe, Wetaskiwin, Crowsnest Pass, Daysland, Brooks, Vulcan, Picture Butte and Coaldale.

Alberta is one of the few jurisdictions in Canada with a coordinated, comprehensive approach to meeting the challenges of rural medical practice. Partners in the Plan include the Government of Alberta, the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Alberta, and the Alberta Medical Association, the medical faculties of the University of Alberta and the University of Calgary, regional health authorities, and practicing rural physicians.

In addition, the Government of Alberta recently announced an on-call payment program. The program was developed through recent contract negotiations between the government and the Alberta Medical Association and will see $19 million over three years allocated for on-call payments to rural doctors. This will result in, on average, an additional $12,000 annually in payments to rural doctors, on top of the eight per cent fee increase to be received by doctors in the province.

The Rural Physician Action Plan enables rural family physicians to take advantage of opportunities to re-enter post-graduate medical education to obtain a specialty certification, or to update their skills through continuing medical education, as well as short-term locum coverage for rural physicians.

I can be reached in my constituency office at Box 1848, St. Paul, Alberta, T0A 3A0.

what's NEWS at the LIBRARY?

The fine art of story telling

By Karina Mitchell
Librarian

Story telling is an art and Queen Storytime is definitely an artist. She graced us with her royal presence last Tuesday and all who attended were treated to a delightful time of fun and stories. With her crown, feather boa and sequenced gown, she made a statement without even saying a word. And all the words she did say were full of laughter.

Her first story was a mystery with much audience participation. In fact, the smart audience was able to solve the mystery right at the beginning of the story (without the help of the parents) realizing the Spirit of Olga Peterson was really just a cow.

With the help of a piece of string and again the audience, she told another story about a mosquito and its unfortunate demise.

And as with any good time, prizes must be given out. Laura Antonio, Bradely Yarmuch and Nicholas Metz all won posters donated by the Northern Lights Library System. Oliver Buck won a How to Juggle book and a Mercer Meyer Beach Set was won by Milo Smith, both prizes from the Library. Northern Lights was the sponsor of this special event and all of us at the Library and those who attended thank them very much. It was a most enjoyable morning.

The stories continue with a new lot of books at the Library.

Canada's National Parks: a Visitor's Guide by Marylee Stephenson is the perfect companion for those who wish to experience the glory of Canada's thirty-nine National Parks and Park Reserves. Summer isn't over and there is still time to enjoy this beautiful country.

Also for adults, Stolen Life: the Journey of a Cree Woman by Rudy Wiebe and Yvonne Johnson unveils the events that put Yvonne Johnson, great-great-granddaughter of Cree Chief Big Bear, behind bars for life at the age of twenty-seven.

For kids of all ages, we have three new Look and Find books.

In Look and Find Muppets, the Muppets take the stage in silly productions of classics like the Wizzard of Oz.

See if you can find Robin Hood, Tarzan, Hercules and many others in Look and Find Heroes and Legends.

Carmen Sandiego is still at large and you have to find her in Look and Find: Where is Carmen Sandiego?

LIBRARY CALENDAR:

Fridays, July and August, 1:00 p.m. — Friday afternoon matinees; On August 7 we will be showing Disney's Anastasia.

Tuesdays and Thursdays, July and August, 1:30 p.m. — Take Me Out to the Library summer reading program.

Wednesday, August 13, evening — Friends of the Library have a bingo in St. Paul. Workers can sign up at the library.

Local athlete shines at Legion Track Meet

Julie Whiffen-Peters of Elk Point brought home a Bronze Medal from the 1998 Royal Canadian Legion Alta/NWT Command Track and Field Camp and Meet held July 12-17 at the University of Calgary and Foothills Athletic Park. Whiffen-Peters medaled in Juvenile Ladies Javelin.

Julie, along with 167 participants from all over Alberta, the Northwest Territories and Eastern B.C., enjoyed two days of sessions with Canadian Olympic Track Coach and U of C Head Track Coach Les Gramantik and his staff of experts then three days of competition.

The Royal Canadian Legion has been running this program for over 20 years nationally and provincially. It costs Alta/NWT Command $90,000 a year plus the 198 Branches sponsor the young athletes to the tune of $62,500. It takes a corps of 50 Legion volunteers are needed to put on the event each year.

A team of 37 athletes were selected from this camp to compete at the Royal Canadian Legion's Dominion track and Field Championships, being held August 6-13 in Prince George, B.C. Alberta has always done well at Dominion's, traditionally finishing in the top four, which is what we did last year.

It is interesting to note that the vast majority of Canadian Olympic Track and Field Medalists in the past 20 years have been graduates of the Royal Canadian Legion Track and Field Program. The annual camp and meet has space for 250 participants between the ages of 13 and 17. If you would like more information, contact your local Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion.

review-SPORTS this week

Baseball has been very, very good in Elk Point this year

Doug Bassett
Elk Point White Sox

Sometimes you win, and sometimes you lose, but Elk Point has done it again, and no one is ever going to say that we are not a good host.

Did I forget to thank anyone last week? I sure hope not because it seemed like the list would never end, if I did, I sure didn't do it intentionally. So just in case, thanks again to everyone who helped make it possible.

One of the bat boys was missed in last week's article, Jordan Cousins, who worked with the silver medal winners, the Ft. Sask. Sox. I don't know how we could miss this guy, he even looks and walks like a ball player.

Now that Baseball is wrapped up for another season, what am I going to do with my spare time? Don't worry about me, I have some work around the house to do in the next few weeks before hockey season starts. Did you notice how I tried to butter up my wife last week? It didn't help much, because Monday I still had to shingle the roof. Well, anyway, it kept me busy and I didn't have much time to replay the weekend in my head. What if we did this, what if so and so would have caught the ball, what if we didn't get tagged out at home plate, who's on first, what's on second? The answers will always haunt me, but like the guy said on T.V. That's baseball! What are we going to talk about next week. Next week we will have some local talent that have been competing in track and field competitions all summer to tell you about.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Chris Fontaine
Birthday: Sept. 6, 1981
Age: 16
Height: 6'1"
Weight: 160 lbs.
Nickname: Hollywood
Favorite Player: Sammy Sosa
Playing in only his second year of organized baseball,

Chris was committed to his job, and was only able to make very few of the Sox games and practices this season. The second year Midget still has another year left to play and hopefully will be able to play more next season. Hollywood has a good glove for fielding and the strongest arm on the team.
